Editorial Review

Review

"What sets this book apart from the others are the examples and exercises that force students to personally understand the relevance of the topic under discussion. That the reader must learn to 'know thyself.'"
-- Brian J. Shelley, York Technical Institute

"Critical Thinking: Tools for Taking Charge of Your Learning and Your Life provides a fresh insight regarding this seemingly ominous subject of Critical Thinking. The subject was so intriguing that, at times, I found the text much like a long awaited novel, hard to put down."
-- Jill Simons, Arkansas State University

"The material is written to arouse a student's curiousity by posing controversial and provocative 'think for yourself' questions..."
-- Becky Goodman, University of Hawaii

"This text is unique in that certain core values and capabilities ('virtues') are requisite..."
-- Michael Craven, Clark College

"Critical Thinking...is superior to the usual 'shortcut/toolkit' type texts..."
-- Gary Greer, University of Houston, Downtown

From the Back Cover

Critical Thinking: Tools for Taking Charge of Your Learning and Your Life*, Second Edition, approaches critical thinking as a process for taking charge of and responsibility for one's thinking. Based in theory developed over the last 25 years, the book focuses on an integrated, universal concept of critical thinking that is both substansive and practical; it fosters the development of basic intellectual skills students need to think through content in any class, subject, or discipline, as well as through any problem or issue they face. Simply stated, this text offers students the intellectual tools they need for a lifelong learning and rational, conscientious living.*

Written by two of the leading experts in critical thinking, this second edition has all the strengths of the original edition plus two new chapters: one focusing on fallacies in thinking, and the other dealing with the problem of propaganda and bias in the mainstream news media.

Content highlights include:

- Think For Yourself activities
- A concrete yet substantive approach to multidisciplinary learning
- Practical ways to analyze and evaluate reasoning
- Emphasis on fair-minded critical thinking and ethical reasoning
- Egocentric and sociocentric thought as primary barriers to critical thinking
- Keys to lifelong learning, decision making, and problem solving

- A global approach to developing the mind-its thought, desires, and emotions
- Using information critically and ethically
- Thinking strategically through problems and issues in everyday life
