Editorial ReviewReview
"The central objective of the RUS' course is communication. It assists in the development of all language skills...all within up-to-date settings and contexts. One of its most prominent features is its emphasis on cultural awareness...RUS' strongly contributes to the development of students'autonomy as learners. The great advantage of the course is that the reference tools and the study resources are easily accessible...Finally, one should say that one of the best features of the RUS' course is that it does not need to be supplemented by any other language resources--it is a course that has been designed to make the study of the Russian language an enjoyable and enriching experience."
